A vibrant, generous, and just region—

with unlimited opportunities
The Community Foundation

Here for Good

Our Vision

A vibrant, generous, and just region – with unlimited opportunities.

Our Mission

Strengthening Inland Southern California through Philanthropy.

We achieve this by:

- Raising assets: We partner with exemplary individuals, families and others who care passionately about improving the community and create permanent charitable funds.

- Stewarding assets: We invest and administer charitable assets based on a set of rigorous national standards.

- Distributing assets: We make grants to nonprofit organizations that are doing important work in health and human services, support to children and families, arts and culture, education – and for civic and environmental benefit.

- Community leadership: We serve as a convener by bringing together key stakeholders to determine community needs; we facilitate the development of collaborative solutions to important community issues; and we act as a catalyst for positive change.
Philanthropy matters. Immensely evocative and powerful, philanthropy is a love of humankind through gifts for humanitarian purposes.

The Community Foundation knows this firsthand. In 2013, generous donors from all walks of life contributed a record $16-plus million dollars to the Foundation, to be used to advance our effort to improve the quality of lives for people in our region—especially those most in need. This is indeed the best year of asset development for The Community Foundation in its nearly 75-year history. It was also an outstanding year for our investments, which saw a very respectful 17.7% annual return. As a result, we were able to provide $7.48 million to nonprofit organizations locally, nationally and internationally. And we significantly grew the Foundation’s assets, ending the year with nearly $80 million dollars—a new high amount of any community foundation in the vast region we serve in Inland Southern California. On behalf of this broad community, we are truly grateful.

2013 is also an important year for other reasons. The Community Foundation undertook the healthy process of looking inward in order to better serve our donors and the community at large. For several months the Board and staff held a mirror to the Foundation by reviewing all of our products and services as part of an in-depth strategic planning process. We invigorated our reflective work by creating and adhering to an aspirational vision that is shared with, and valued by, the people of our community: “A vibrant, generous, and just region—with unlimited opportunities.” And we sharpened our distinct role as the regional community foundation through a laser-focused mission: “Strengthening Inland Southern California through Philanthropy.”

Concepts such as altruism, civic-mindedness, diversity, and responsibility are part of our ethos. At The Community Foundation we carry out these principles through what is commonly referred to in the field of philanthropy as the “Five G’s”: Get, Give, Grow, Gather and Guide. This is the essence of what we do at The Community Foundation.

In 2013, The Community Foundation worked intimately with donors who supported issues, organizations, and programs that are important today, and we steadfastly ensured that the donors’ support will leave an enduring legacy for generations to come. As you read this annual report on The Community Foundation’s work in such areas as awarding grants to nonprofit organizations; providing funds for educational scholarships; stewarding and investing donor contributions; and advancing the culture of giving, we hope that you will consider joining our community leadership effort to continue making Inland Southern California even stronger and more vibrant through the ineffable power of philanthropy.

Thank you.

A Vibrant Program that is Changing Young Lives in the Coachella Valley

In Riverside County’s Coachella Valley, luxurious homes, often in gated communities, are far outnumbered by the modest homes of families living near, at or below the poverty level. In the Title I schools (at least 45 percent of the students qualify for free lunches) of the three unified school districts served by Tools for Tomorrow—Palm Springs, Desert Sands, and Coachella—an estimated 85% of the students are from families who meet that condition.

Picture a Coachella Valley classroom. Regular school classes have ended, but a teacher sits at his desk preparing for a very special class. The room quickly fills with the bright faces of children—third-to-fifth graders—ready to absorb, like sponges in a bucket of water, whatever knowledge their teacher is about to impart. Soon they are totally involved in an hour-and-a-half class that includes art; today it’s watercolor painting and collage; music—Tchaikovsky’s “Peter and the Wolf” fills the air; and drama—the children take the roles of the Tchaikovsky characters, in pantomime!

This is Tools For Tomorrow, a specially designed arts literacy curriculum that integrates Creative Writing, Drama, Art, and Music.

The goal of this curriculum is to provide arts literacy by teaching the fundamentals of each of the disciplines and by providing a hands-on experience that gives the children a feeling of success as they learn and create original works in each discipline.

Ed DiNicola, a life-long educator and current Executive Director of Tools For Tomorrow, says it is important to recognize that children learn what they are excited about. Hence the emphasis is on process and hands-on experience. It is no wonder that their confidence, self-esteem, feelings of success and achievement abound when they see their creative work exhibited and admired in venues throughout the community and in a published anthology.
Tools For Tomorrow, a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, is governed by a Board of Directors and financially supported by Friends of Tools For Tomorrow, a fundraising auxiliary; grants; private and community donations; and in-kind services. The income from an endowment trust helps to pay administrative expenses. The program employs qualified, paid instructors who follow a professionally designed curriculum. Classes are held on-site at individual schools, after regular school hours. Classes are free to all students and all supplies, musical equipment and snacks are provided by Tools For Tomorrow. The cost to support one school for a school year is $10,000. The program currently serves nearly 800 students in nine schools, and in each school there is a waiting list of more than 100. Since its inception in 1999, Tools For Tomorrow has served well over 10,000 students.

Dwight Tate and Kathy Wright

Kathy Wright and Dwight Tate grew up, attended school, later married and have lived in Riverside in the same house for more than three decades. They are recognized throughout Riverside for their civic mindedness and involvement in and support of many organizations, activities and events.

With a twinkle in his eye, Dwight Tate will tell you he was “born in an orange grove” in the city when citrus was king and orange groves could be seen in almost every part of it.

But with only a little stretch of the imagination, you could say that Dwight Tate was born, not with a silver spoon in his mouth, but with a hard-cover book in his hands. In the Tate family, books were more than entertainment and education; they defined Dwight’s mother, Maxine Tate, from her youngest days until her death in 1998.

Dwight recalls family stories about his mother, as a young girl in Spokane, Washington, having a goal to read “all the books in the library.” As she got deeper into the “A” books, with “B” through “Z” still looming, she came to the realization that her goal was really not achievable. The desire to read lots of books, however, was already firmly imprinted in her consciousness.

The family moved to Southern California in the mid-1930s, living in Hemet prior to taking up residence in Riverside in 1938. Maxine Tate’s love of books was impossible to overlook; she would check out literally dozens of books at a time, first from the children’s library and later from the adult library downtown.

When the old Mission Revival style library fell to the wrecking ball in 1964 and a new 61,000-square-foot library was built in downtown Riverside, Maxine continued to be one of the library’s staunchest supporters, and one of its most frequent users.

In December 2000, to honor the memory of his mother and to extend and enhance library services to people living in the City of Riverside—specifically young women in the Casa Blanca neighborhood—Dwight Tate established the Maxine Tate Library Fund at The Community Foundation.

Dwight Tate worked for 20 years for people with developmental disabilities in various organizations. He has worked for the past 20 years as a financial advisor with Waddell & Reed, Inc., in their Riverside office. He retired at the end of 2013.

Kathy Wright has lived almost her entire life in Riverside, but she was born more than 7,000 miles away, in the Philippines, into an Air Force family stationed there. The family, including Kathy’s nine brothers and sisters, moved to Riverside when Kathy was 10 years old. She was part of the first graduating class at John W. North High School, attended Riverside Community College, earned a Bachelor’s degree and teaching credential from San Diego State University, and a Master’s degree with administrative services credential from the University of California Riverside. She earned her doctoral degree from the University of LaVerne.
Her 37 years in public education began as a teacher in Banning, and later in the Alvord Unified School Districts. After she moved into administration, successive promotions saw her advance to deputy superintendent at Alvord, and in her last year she held the office of superintendent.

Kathy learned from her parents and family to make community service and involvement a way of life. She currently serves on several committees and boards, volunteering hundreds of hours and providing financial support. Among these organizations are the Mission Inn Foundation, Assistance League of Riverside, Riverside Dickens Festival (husband Dwight was its first president and is still very actively involved), and many more. Among these, and in keeping with her life in education, is the Greater Riverside chapter of Dollars for Scholars. The first scholarships for $500 each were awarded in 1995 to two students graduating from Norte Vista High School. Over the years, more than $2 million has been awarded to over 1,400 students from 20 comprehensive high schools and special schools.

As the chapter developed it became a clearinghouse for local organizations and individuals that had scholarship programs with money to give away but not necessarily the time or knowledge to carry out the application, selection and award process.

In 2008, Kathy took on the position of president of Dollars for Scholars, but insisted it be on an interim basis. Even during several “lean years” exacerbated by the economic downturn, the Chapter managed to award nearly 300 scholarships over three years. In 2010 under Kathy Wright’s leadership, a new board was formed. Today, Joseph Ortiz leads a board of 23 members who have brought new energy and ideas to the chapter, which operates under the aegis of the national Scholarship America.

Our region is generous. Riverside County residents give 4.5% of their income to charity, and in San Bernardino County, they give 5.1%. This compares to San Diego County at 4.0% and Orange County at 4.9%.

CASA of San Bernardino County

Court Appointed Special Advocates (CASA) of San Bernardino County provides foster children with mentors and a voice through the recruitment and training of volunteers who advocate for those who may otherwise become lost in the court system.

In San Bernardino County since 1984, CASA volunteers work to insure that court-dependent foster children (about 5,400 in the county) have the kind of adult support that can assist them to become successful adults. Without such assistance, foster children may become lost and confused, leading to behaviors that bring them back to the courts for judicial resolution.

CASA volunteers usher their youthful wards through the court system, communicating with them frequently and relating their opinions and desires directly to the court. In doing this, the advocate becomes a person the children can safely and consistently rely on. “When a volunteer forms a relationship with a foster child, that volunteer has an impact on many aspects of the child’s life,” says Kara Hunter, Executive Director.

The work involves more than just advocating in court, however. Some volunteers have educational rights, meaning they have the legal rights to help children get into a more appropriate school setting and to study at the appropriate educational level. This way, children have a better chance of graduating high school, and even going on to college.

CASA also works to reunite families and helps them build or rebuild relationships.

Hunter tells a story of a girl who recognized her brother at one of CASA’s holiday parties. The two children had known that a sibling existed but had no idea how to find one another, now that they had different last names. “Not only did the boy become a brother that day,” says Hunter, “he also became an uncle to the child his sister had borne. The two have become very close in the years since that happy reunion.”

Funding for CASA’s budget comes from diversified sources, including some contracts with county agencies and a small contract with a state agency. However, 50 to 60 percent of their budget comes from fundraisers, individuals and grantors—including The Community Foundation.

Attendees at the 6th Annual Care 4 Kids Run (April 2013)
The relationships that volunteers build with foster children often last a lifetime. Hunter says that recently one of their clients, who is now an adult, called to ask to talk to her CASA volunteer. “She found herself in a violent relationship and just needed to talk to someone about how to cope,” says Hunter. She notes that volunteers often help children learn how to build positive relationships and to navigate through arguments and disagreements. “This is important to future relationships and to helping them hold down jobs.”

In addition to helping children, Hunter feels that CASA benefits the community. CASA volunteers help children avoid drugs, detrimental situations, and to grow up to be productive members of society. “Without that support system, the community pays the price, literally and figuratively.”

High Desert Community Foundation

The High Desert Community Foundation has a goal to build and strengthen High Desert and Mountain communities by making it possible for a wide range of donors to create affiliate funds to meet critical community needs. Through philanthropy that is visionary, diverse and inclusive, the High Desert Community Foundation has become a catalyst for improvement within the High Desert / Mountain Region of San Bernardino County.

The High Desert Community Foundation has engaged the community in philanthropic giving by establishing permanent funds that reflect the donors’ area of interest. An example is the Trever Bennett Memorial Art Scholarship Fund. Trever was a High Desert treasure as an accomplished artist widely known especially for her remarkable ability to capture the unique beauty and serenity of the desert in her watercolor paintings. She was a life-long learner and teacher who believed in giving back to her community through her personal efforts in student instruction and also through financial support. She established the Trever Bennett Art Scholarship to provide funding for an artist pursuing higher education. Later, she included the High Desert Community Foundation in her estate so that the Trever Bennett Memorial Art Scholarship would continue to support artists and the expansion of artistic endeavors in the High Desert.

Lisa Lawrence, Executive Director of the High Desert Community Foundation, explains that the Foundation serves as a fiscal sponsor to more than 50 projects established for community benefit. These projects provide support and services for a wide variety of needs in the High Desert and include among others: Programs for Youth; Arts and Music Programs; Health Services; Veterans’ Assistance; Food Pantries; and Athletic and Health Activities.

Under the umbrella of the High Desert Community Foundation, these projects are able to accept tax-deductible donations. The High Desert Community Foundation provides administrative and practical support such as banking, accounting, donor-receipts, and reporting required by regulatory entities.

With the Foundation handling these tasks, the project advisors can focus on their mission to help others.

The High Desert Community Foundation also coaches these organizations and fosters networking among them.

Recognizing the value that a relationship with The Community Foundation can bring to them, including a well-trained and knowledgeable staff and nearly 75 years of service to the community, the High Desert Community Foundation placed a large portion of their endowed assets with The Community Foundation. This relationship provides not only a level of confidence that the assets are being carefully invested and managed, but also provides the High Desert Community Foundation with the ability to offer potential donors professional assistance, including planned giving expertise, as they consider their philanthropic options. Furthermore, the relationship fosters a spirit of cooperation, support, and teamwork that allows for a greater impact on the community.
With two staff and one volunteer, the High Desert Community Foundation has been able to provide advice, assistance and financial grants to a wide range of projects. While some of these have been formally organized and chartered, other sprang from a totally informal recognition of a need and a way to accommodate that need. The High Desert Community Foundation’s Executive Director Lawrence cites Kid2Kid Closet as an example. It was started by mothers informally exchanging their children’s outgrown clothing, and it has grown to serve as many as 900 High Desert families who, once or twice a month, bring outgrown clothes that are sorted by volunteers and are then given to families that need them. A real grassroots project, K2K also conducts a toy drive at Christmastime.

Other Projects at the High Desert Community Foundation include:

Hesperia Police Activities League: The goal of this program is to give boys and girls ages 11-18 an opportunity to learn character- and confidence building through their participation in athletic competition. Established in 2008, this program is targeted specifically for at-risk youth in the High Desert Community.

Siverts Publishing Scholarship Fund: This scholarship is open to graduating High Desert high school seniors who are pursuing a degree in one of several information and communication disciplines, including: graphic design, broadcasting, video production, photography, new media, mass communication studies, and journalism.

Heritage Victor Valley Medical Group Thin It Fund: The “In It To Thin It” program is a life-changing fitness challenge for local high school students who attend various area high schools. This challenge helps female and male teenagers improve their lives through health and fitness. The goal of this program is to provide motivation to kickstart healthy living habits in these young lives.

Oak Grove Center

Oak Grove Center is a nonprofit, 24-hour residential, educational and therapeutic treatment center that serves 76 children who live on campus, as well as 90-100 day students who attend its school. The main campus and residential center is located in Murrieta, while a second campus—Oak Grove at the Ranch—is located in Perris and serves an additional 50 students.

Children are admitted to the Center’s programs with a variety of psychological, social, emotional, behavioral, medical and neurological problems. Concurrent with these conditions may be behavioral difficulties, school problems, family dysfunction and alcohol or substance abuse. Many of the children have suffered physical and/or sexual abuse, other traumas or have experienced other severe social, emotional or behavioral challenges.

Founded in 1989, the Center has grown significantly. Its scope has greatly broadened over the years, during which it has served more than 3,000 children and families. The progress continues, and a current focus is on LIVE SAFE—Oak Grove’s signature program—and the Term Intensive Program. These are geared toward helping youth increase stability, acquire coping skills and improve home and family functioning. In 2013, LIVE SAFE received funding from The Community Foundation’s Youth Grantmakers.

“We work with people to develop a safety plan and to learn how to regulate their emotions,” says Tammy Wilson, CEO of Oak Grove. “Learning to cope with anxiety, anger, shame and a variety of other intense emotions is an important skill.”

Programs geared toward stopping self-abuse are available to students who live at home and attend the Center’s partial hospitalization program or intensive outpatient program, as well as youth that are full-time residents at the Center.

In addition to expanding the LIFE SAFE program, Oak Grove has been growing its autism program since 2008, thanks to a startup grant from The Community Foundation. Since then, the Center has opened three autism classrooms on its Murrieta campus and one at the Oak Grove Campus in Perris.
Arts and Performance Program

The highly qualified professionals at Oak Grove Center have found that an enriched Arts Program provides opportunities for troubled children to heal and recover from past traumas. Offering art as a leisure and therapeutic activity supports the Center’s mission to rebuild the lives of at-risk children and their families through educating, healing, restoring relationships, building character and instilling hope.

With its enriched Arts Program, the Center provides healing opportunities for at-risk children to appropriately deal with their pain, anger, frustration and low self-esteem. As students learn to explore their feelings, they build connections with others, gain respect for themselves and learn positive alternatives for coping, growing and living that do not involve drugs, abuse, aggression, gang involvement and school failure. This prepares them for successful lives and futures, including staying sober and remaining in school.

Oak Grove at the Ranch

Oak Grove at the Ranch (OGR) is a California certified, fully accredited school operating under the umbrella of the Oak Grove Center. Established in 2006, OGR is located in Perris and, like the Murrieta campus, provides services to students with a history of chronic and severe social, emotional, behavioral, and/or academic challenges. The school is comprised of five classes serving students with emotional disturbance, learning disabilities, developmental disabilities, and autism.

CEO Tammy Wilson sums up the Oak Grove Center’s efforts succinctly: “We believe that the work we do today builds a better tomorrow. This is accomplished through an outstanding school and therapy programs, a talented clinical team, and a dedicated staff that is committed to creating change in the lives of children.”

Oak Grove Center has received multiple grants from The Community Foundation. The most recent grant is from our Youth Grantmakers.
Youth Grantmakers

The Community Foundation’s Youth Grantmakers Programs were created to empower youth to address issues important to them by participating in grantmaking, a formal practice of philanthropy. Through these programs, young people become active agents of change, preparing them for responsive community leadership through practical hands-on service.

Two Youth Grantmakers programs are currently in place, with plans for two additional programs in the fall of 2014.

Idyllwild Youth Grantmakers

In its second year, 18 youth, in grades 7-9, work together to make grants to local nonprofits that benefit the Idyllwild community. Funded by The Community Foundation, including contributions from the Idyllwild Community Fund, the teachers at Idyllwild School assist with the implementation of the program. Five grants, totaling $4,000, were awarded to nonprofits in 2013.

Youth Grantmakers

At the high school level, 36 students from eight schools in Riverside and San Bernardino constitute the Youth Grantmakers. Over the school year, participants attended three nonprofit site visits, listened to three nonprofit presentations during one of the Youth Grantmakers’ monthly meetings, conducted a community service project, and awarded 10 grants totaling $20,000 to nonprofits addressing the needs of youth in our region.

Since the inception of this program in 2009, the high school Youth Grantmakers have awarded $100,000 to deserving nonprofit agencies.
Community Leadership

In addition to our core roles of raising, stewarding and distributing funds, The Community Foundation has embraced our role in Community Leadership, including supporting and contributing to the work of the Inland Empire Childrens Health Initiative, the San Bernardino County Capacity Building Consortium, and the Funders Alliance, a collaborative group of large regional funding agencies that have joined together to increase communication, collaboration, and coordination among each other. Other Community Leadership projects of the Foundation include:

Community Indicators Reports

The Foundation publishes a Community Indicators Report for both Riverside and San Bernardino Counties. This valuable and trusted resource is a vital tool for public, private and nonprofit leaders to improve the quality of life of our residents. The report contains a comprehensive and honest assessment of the Counties’ economic and business climate, education, public safety, environment and community life with multi-year data and essential research highlighting areas of success and opportunity. Both reports are available at www.thecommunityfoundation.net.

Capacity Building Initiative

In 2013, the Foundation partnered with the County of San Bernardino on the development of two projects addressing capacity building within the county. One, the development of the Nonprofit Capacity Building Strategic Plan for San Bernardino County—A Roadmap to Achieve Impact, outlined specific strategies to build the capacity of the nonprofit sector. The plan is the first of its kind in the county and state. The second project was the creation of the Grants Development Initiative (GDI) whose goal was to (1) create a grant development plan; (2) establish staffing and resources to implement the plan; and (3) form a centralized grant proposal writing team and strategy to produce successful grants with the intent to significantly increase funding and support to the county. The GDI produced a plan entitled Achieving Positive Financial Impact Through Grant Funding, and through the GDI’s grantwriting efforts, the team obtained over $6.2 million dollars in new funding, representing a significant return on investment by the County.

Our work with the San Bernardino County Capacity Building Consortium resulted in the development of the first-ever economic impact report on the nonprofit sector, entitled Economic Impacts of the Nonprofit Sector in San Bernardino County. Two of the most significant findings of the report are that the nonprofit sector’s total economic impact on the County was approximately $2.6 billion, and that it contributed $607 million in tax revenue to federal, state, and local governments.

Copies of any of the three documents mentioned above are available on our website: www.thecommunityfoundation.net.

Advancing the Field of Philanthropy

The professional staff of The Community Foundation participates in shaping and advancing the professional field of philanthropy by serving in areas of importance to the sector.

Dr. Jonathan Lorenzo Yorba, our President and CEO, serves on the Government Relations Committee of the League of California Community Foundations (LCCF). Our Foundation will be hosting the LCCF meeting in Palm Springs in 2014. In addition, Dr. Yorba is a member of the planning committee for the Council on Foundations’ 2014 Fall Conference for Community Foundations, a celebration to mark the culmination of our industry’s 100 years of service and leadership.

Our staff also serves on a multitude of other committees in the region and participates in professional groups associated with the Council on Foundations such as AdNet, CommA, and FAOG.
The Community Foundation’s Grantmaking

Grants are awarded through three primary processes:

- Donor Advised Funds: Grants from donor advised funds are made throughout the year on an individual basis as recommended by donors with funds at The Community Foundation.

- Restricted Funds and Agency Endowment Funds: Grants from these funds are disbursed throughout the year based on specific requests from the fund holder.

- Discretionary Grantmaking Funds: Our Field of Interest Funds and Community Impact Fund comprise our discretionary grantmaking. Grants from these funds are awarded through a competitive process.

Why Discretionary Funds are Important

When you give to a discretionary fund at The Community Foundation, your gift goes to where it is most needed within our region. Many community-minded people include a gift to our discretionary funds as a part of their annual giving. Several people leave a gift to The Community Foundation in their will or estate plan.

You can contribute cash, securities, retirement accounts, life insurance or other assets.

On the following page is a list of the grants made in 2013 from the Community Impact Fund, thanks to compassionate and generous people like you.

To have a confidential discussion about your individually-tailored gift to our Field of Interest Funds or to our Community Impact Fund, or to establish your own fund, please contact Philanthropic Services at 951.241.7777 or info@thecommunityfoundation.net.

How The Community Foundation Awards Discretionary Grants

The Community Foundation accepts competitive grant proposals from nonprofit organizations serving Inland Southern California. The Foundation’s Board of Directors’ Program Committee reviews all information and makes recommendations to the Board of Directors, which approves all grants.

Grants from the Community Impact Fund are awarded in the Spring, and grants from the Field of Interest Fund are awarded throughout the year.

For specific dates and more information on grant application procedures, please visit our website: www.thecommunityfoundation.net. The site has our grant guidelines, information about the application process, the grants calendar, and links to the online applications.

Grants by Program Area

- Health & Human Services: $1,407,474.88
- Education & Scholarships: $1,482,207.36
- Children & Families: $1,817,403.45
- Civic & Environmental Benefit: $2,209,774.72
- Arts & Culture: $215,319.76
- Other: $342,772.00

Arts Regranting Program—Inland Empire

The Foundation received funding from The James Irvine Foundation for the Arts Regranting Program/Inland Empire which provided risk capital to small- and micro-arts organizations in our two-county region to experiment with arts engagement activities. The grants were for very small arts organizations, agencies, art collectives and groups to pilot projects that focused on reaching low-income and/or ethnically diverse populations. The project offered active engagement in the arts in which participants are making or practicing art, or are using nontraditional arts venues such as churches, store fronts and shopping malls, or open lots and other spaces not typically designated for arts use that are easily accessible and familiar to the public.
Community Impact Fund

In 2013, The Community Foundation awarded $7.48 million in grants and scholarships. The majority of the grants were from funds with specific purposes such as Field of Interest Funds or Scholarship Funds, or from designated funds such as Donor Advised Funds.

The Community Impact Fund, in contrast, consists of unrestricted monies and is used to make competitive grants to eligible nonprofits to meet the most critical needs of our community. The grant proposals are reviewed by the Programs Committee which submits its recommendations to the Board of Directors for approval. The Community Impact Fund is highly competitive and the Foundation always receives requests that total far more than the Foundation has available to grant. Our goal is to work with donors to grow The Community Impact Fund.

The Foundation focuses its unrestricted grantmaking in four primary program areas:

- Health and Human Services—promoting access to health care for all residents and helping individuals and families obtain basic services to promote an improved quality of life
- Youth and Families—enhancing opportunities that promote academic achievement and positive youth development and developing family support services that foster learning and growth
- Arts and Culture—encouraging creative expression and providing opportunities for enjoyment of cultural activities and art forms
- Civic and Public Benefit—building a sense of community and promoting civic participation

As communities grow and change over the years, the needs of our communities change as well. Having unrestricted dollars available through The Community Impact Fund to respond to changing needs allows the Foundation the opportunity to stretch toward our vision of a vibrant, generous, and just region—with unlimited opportunities. Donors who understand this ebb and flow may find a contribution to the Community Impact Fund attractive as their philanthropic vehicle.
The Foundation’s Investment Committee avoids focusing on the short term. Instead, we look forward over the long term.

Asset Allocation and Philosophy of Endowed Investments

Making sound strategic decisions on the structure of a portfolio has a profound influence on investment results, which is why The Community Foundation has a diversified portfolio with a long-term horizon. The portfolio is invested in accordance with a core principle of successful investing, which acknowledges that a diversified portfolio across different asset classes should provide a sustainable rate of income while minimizing the volatility that affects all investments to varying degrees. The portfolio is periodically rebalanced to target allocations to maintain portfolio equilibrium, increase value and support donors’ spending over the long term.

The Investment Committee recognizes that The Community Foundation must avoid focusing on the short term which always plays out randomly and unpredictably. Instead, we look forward over the long term where the Foundation can achieve a reasonable degree of certainty. We will continue to focus on a sound investment policy for the benefit of our donors and will continue to employ best practices as we oversee the Foundation’s investments.

Target Asset Allocation

Process and Governance

The Foundation’s portfolio is reviewed on an ongoing basis by the Investment Committee and the Foundation’s independent investment consultants, Wurts & Associates. The Investment Committee and investment consultants review:

- Strategic Investment Opportunities
- Portfolio Allocations
- Fund Manager Analysis
- Investment Performance
- Manager Searches
- Market Environment
- Capital Market Assumptions

Liquid Alternatives 16%
Fixed Income 23%
International Equity 26%
Domestic Equity 35%
Since 2011, The Community Foundation’s assets have grown more than 37%.

A Myriad of Ways to Give

You can give back to the Inland Southern California region and support your favorite causes with a gift to The Community Foundation.

You simply tell us how you wish the gift to be used and we will honor your wishes.

Types of Gifts

The Community Foundation is able to accept a wide array of assets as contributions to a fund, and because The Community Foundation is a 501(c)(3) public charity, donors will receive the most valuable tax benefits available under the law. In addition to cash, we also accept gifts of:

- Bequests
- Charitable Gift Annuities
- Charitable Lead Trusts
- Charitable Remainder Trusts
- Intangible / Intellectual property
- Life Insurance
- Life Insurance Beneficiary Designations
- Oil, Gas, and Mineral Interests
- Real Estate
- Remainder Interests in Property
- Retirement Plan Beneficiary Designations
- Securities
- Tangible Personal Property

Including The Community Foundation in your estate plan allows you to leave a legacy for future generations who will reside throughout Inland Southern California. Even a modest bequest will grow, under our stewardship, into a significant amount over time. Each year, your generous gift will generate larger grants to the causes or communities you care about. Available planned giving vehicles include:

- Wills or Living Trusts
- Life Insurance
- Charitable Remainder Trusts
- Gift Annuities
- Retirement Accounts

If you would like to make an impact in our community today and for generations to come, consider a gift to The Community Foundation. We will help you and your advisor(s) design a philanthropic strategy that fulfills your charitable goals while effectively addressing your financial, tax and estate planning needs.
Professional Advisors Council

Throughout our two-county region, over 225 Professional Advisors play an important role in the success of The Community Foundation. Our Advisors are bank and trust officers, financial planners and advisors, Certified Public Accountants, estate planning attorneys, real estate, tax and insurance professionals. The Community Foundation and our Professional Advisors Council work in partnership to enhance philanthropy in our region through collaborative efforts that transform the PAC “clients” into “donors” to the community.

Many of our Professional Advisors are also our “Champions”. To receive this distinction, an Advisor must either refer or establish an endowment or a fund at The Community Foundation.

We thank all our Professional Advisors and especially our Champions:

Fund Activity

Almost 500 individuals, families, corporations and nonprofits have established a fund with us over the years. They choose the name of their fund and determine its purpose. The following funds, and their corresponding 2013 gifts and grants, are listed by fund type and are held at and stewarded by The Community Foundation.

Agency Funds

The Foundation is committed to providing support to the nonprofit organizations/agencies in the region. One of the ways we do this is by stewarding endowed funds. These funds offer a reliable source of financial support for the organization, earning interest through pooled investments, benefitting from economies of scale and the expertise and oversight by the Foundation’s Investment Committee and fund consultants.

Here For Good
Regional Access Project (RAP) Foundation

The Regional Access Project (RAP) Foundation provides funding, oversight, technical assistance and guidance to nonprofit community-based organizations or collaborative groups, and to other tax-exempt agencies that serve the populations of eastern Riverside County in the areas of health, mental health, and juvenile intervention.

Leticia De Lara is the diminutive fireball who governs the activities of the Coachella Valley’s Regional Access Project (RAP) Foundation. She says it is an exciting time for RAP in part because the Board of Directors is now comprised almost equally of long-standing and new members and “They are all open to change. This is not a ‘we’ve always done it this way’ group.”

While new to the position of CEO of RAP, Leticia is no stranger to its activities, having served for 15 years as an assistant to County Supervisor Patricia “Corky” Larson and later to Roy Wilson (former Supervisor) and John Benoit (current Supervisor).

RAP acts as an advisor and funder in four main areas: Health, Mental Health, Juvenile Intervention and Technical Assistance. RAP works with nonprofit organizations, providing advice on accounting, legal matters, strategic planning and development. RAP’s supplemental grants are awarded to increase the community impact of these nonprofit organizations.

RAP traces its origins to 1999 and the efforts of County Supervisor Patricia “Corky” Larson whose district stretched from Palm Springs to the Arizona border. Services readily available in the City of Riverside were not accessible to residents in the eastern part of the county. Thus was created an agency that would facilitate access to needed services. De Lara cites an example: A group of interested citizens wishes to establish an after-school program. They start raising money with things such as bake sales and car washes. The idea takes off and they begin to raise significant money and a lot of kids are participating. Suddenly the project is big and successful enough to begin thinking of formal status as a nonprofit. RAP helps them with this important next step. This help allows the organization to continue to operate while RAP works through the lengthy process of achieving nonprofit 501c(3) status.

While the grants RAP makes are generally small—around $5,000—a major effort might call for as much as $100,000. Such was the case with SafeHouse of the Desert. Modeled on and operating cooperatively with Operation SafeHouse, which has been open in the City of Riverside for some 20 years, SafeHouse of the Desert is now marking 10 years of service to teens and families in crisis. Most notably, SafeHouse of the Desert operates an emergency shelter program that provides immediate help to youth and families experiencing crisis situations, as well as to runaway and “throwaway” teens. A competent, caring staff is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week for teens and their families who need help negotiating the often challenging road from childhood to independent adult life. RAP facilitated the coming-together of officials in Riverside and the Coachella Valley to make the project a reality. With funding from government and private entities, Operation SafeHouse constructed its sister project in Thousand Palms. It enjoys strong support from valley communities, and RAP has been able to step back from funding and advising as SafeHouse of the Desert matured and was able to function independently.

Technical Assistance Grants: In addition to cash grants, any nonprofit organization providing services in health, mental health and juvenile intervention to residents of eastern Riverside County may request technical assistance from the RAP Foundation. Those services include but are not limited to general capacity building; strategic business planning, individual or group seminars and training opportunities in accounting, fund development, etc. This service is provided at no cost to nonprofit organizations.

In 2013, the Regional Access Project Foundation opened an Agency Fund at The Community Foundation.
Academy for Grassroots Organizations

Academy for Grassroots Organizations was formed to meet the needs of a growing San Bernardino County nonprofit sector. Today, with a mission to improve the quality of life in our region by supporting and strengthening the social service sector, “Academy GO” provides a variety of resources and nonprofit learning opportunities. Today, Academy GO serves a network of more than 1,000 nonprofit professionals and volunteers.

“Our local nonprofits improve our quality of life ... so we want to make sure that the thousands of amazing people and organizations working to change lives in our region have all the resources and skills they need to be successful. That’s our mission in a nutshell,” said Vici Nagel, CEO.

Academy for Grassroots Organizations has multiple funds and endowments at The Community Foundation.

Board Chair Christopher B. Lindsay and Chief Executive Officer Vici Nagel review a grant funding resource website, called Foundation Center’s Funding Information Network, which is free for all of their members and the public to use to identify potential grant funding.
Community Impact Funds

These pooled funds allow the Foundation to address the most critical needs in the community, even as those needs change over time. The Community Foundation distributes these discretionary funds to address emerging needs in Inland Southern California, and the most critical issues in our region.

Global One Development Center

Global One Development Center—a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization located in Southern California—was created with a goal to provide affordable housing to those who are permanently disabled and in need of stabilization. For several years the organization worked not only to help those with special needs obtain housing, but also to assist first-time home buyers and those in the process of foreclosure to save their homes.

Learning about the challenges of transitional youth, Executive Director Jackie Behling decided that she really wanted the organization to also help transitional-aged youth. As youth age-out of the foster care system or are released from juvenile detention, they may lack support systems and opportunities for work and housing.

For some youth leaving foster care, homelessness comes the day they emancipate from the foster care system. Others move from a foster home into a bad housing situation, only to find themselves without shelter thereafter. The California Department of Social Services concluded that 65 percent of emancipated youth lack safe and affordable housing at the time of emancipation. Although conclusions as to the rate vary, homelessness is a certainty for too many youth leaving foster care.

Behling was able to secure funding for a project to help these youth, including funding from The Community Foundation, and began the complicated process of securing and renovating a property. In 2013, Global One acquired three properties in Barstow—a particularly economically challenged area in San Bernardino County—and started their programming with five youth who are now building the foundations of successful living and a secure adulthood.

Most of these youth are coming into the program directly off the streets, exiting emergency shelters or other places that are not meant for human habitation. Their stories are heartbreaking, yet their success is inspiring. One young 19-year-old-woman came home from school to discover that her drug-addicted parents had packed and left her to fend for herself. She stayed in the apartment until one-by-one the utilities were turned off and she had nowhere to go. She was scrambling just to feed herself. Today, she is living in transitional housing and thriving while she attends college, working toward a degree in criminal justice. She hopes someday to be a police officer.

Behling also tells a story of another youth for whom they are searching, hoping to find her and offer her housing. Pinpointing her whereabouts is difficult because she is living in the riverbed, which was her only choice. When she turned 18, her foster parents forced her leave their home with no means other than a tent to use for shelter. Behling says, “She had no history of drug abuse or bad behavior. She was just no longer bringing in a check.”

Global One Development Center does more than just put a roof over the heads of unwanted youth. By providing housing and supportive housing services, Global One Development Center is able to assist homeless youth who have often experienced a lifetime of abuse, neglect, mental illness, and a lack of guidance. These supportive housing services include but are not limited to counseling/case management; employment preparation and referral; alcohol, tobacco and other drug abuse prevention, intervention and education; mental health referrals; public benefits; referral to outside services; independent living skills; community involvement; and recreation.

The benefits to the community are also immense. Behling says, “If you think about the dollars, it’s cheaper to put money into housing programs than to put it into emergency services. That bandage is really expensive. Permanent support housing is investing in the youth we serve and helping them to redirect their lives. We don’t just give them a roof over their head. They are really focusing on their future. It’s a good investment.”

The Community Foundation awarded Global One Development Center a 2013 Community Impact Fund grant.
Legal Aid Society of San Bernardino

Insuring Adequate Legal Representation for All

Legal Aid Society of San Bernardino is committed to providing quality legal assistance to community members who cannot afford desperately needed legal advice. Understanding that equal representation is critical to the justice system, the Society was created to provide counseling and legal services to indigent individuals. In short, its aim is to insure that money is not the dividing line between those who do and do not receive legal advice.

The Society has been working toward this goal for more than 50 years. Its board members—attorneys and paralegals—in the words of Deborah Davis, Interim Executive Director, “[W]e are truly committed to allowing the most challenged of our society to lawfully address legal issues that directly affect their daily home life.”

Legal Aid provides help with many of life’s everyday legal battles. Common issues include:

- family law
- child custody
- unlawful detainer
- guardianship
- conservatorship
- child/spousal support
- restraining orders
- visitation
- elder abuse
- simple will/trust

Additionally, the Society advises on legal issues such as bankruptcy, but does not handle civil suits or criminal matters.

The work that Legal Aid Society does is supported by many community organizations including The Community Foundation. Funding, however, is becoming more difficult to secure. Davis says, “Many of the governmental sources that funded programs for twenty or more years have been closed, withdrawn or vastly reduced.”

Legal Aid Society of San Bernardino was awarded a grant from the Community Impact Fund at The Community Foundation to provide consultation, advice, case strategy and ongoing legal support for military personnel and dependents. While the U.S. Judge Advocate General’s Corps (JAG) offers legal services, they are limited to helping military personnel, not their dependent families. And JAG assists only with uncontested actions, meaning cases without a dispute, such as end-of-life planning. In many cases, it is the Legal Aid Society that is able to accommodate this need.

Almost everyone faces a legal issue at some point, and not everyone can afford to consult an attorney, much less hire one. The fact is that the organization does not work to take clients away from attorneys, but rather helps those who would never have become clients in the first place. Davis says, “Legal Aid is here helping the most needful engage and use the judicial system to cure life-altering problems.”

Legal Aid Society of San Bernardino received a 2013 Community Impact Fund grant.

Designated Funds

These funds are for donors who wish to support specific organizations forever. Donors designate one or more organizations to receive annual grants from their endowed fund. If a designated organization dissolves or changes its purpose, the Foundation ensures the original charitable objectives are continued.

Donor Advised Funds

Donor Advised funds allow donors the most flexibility to achieve their charitable goals. They are designed for donors to be actively involved in directing how the funds are used. Through their own research or with guidance and philanthropic expertise about community issues and local nonprofits from our knowledgeable staff, donors may request grants be made to specific local, national or international nonprofit organizations. Each request from a Donor Advised fund is subject to approval by our Board of Directors.

Here For Good
The Steinway Society of Riverside County

Filling Coachella Valley Schools With Music

The Steinway Society of Riverside County brings music education to children every year through a variety of programs designed to engage, educate and inspire children. The Society also provides financial awards through competition and provides music lessons for deserving children with financial need.

There is, of course, a human face to the Steinway Society of Riverside County. A good GPS and a bit of questioning brings one to the address given as the Society’s office. Strange… it looks like a lovely home in a gated community in Rancho Mirage. The front door opens and one is welcomed by Ruth Moir, President and Founder of the Steinway Society of Riverside County, into her home. Indeed, her home is also the Society’s office.

She explained that by not renting an office in a commercial building, she saves enough money to provide music lessons for additional children. No minor program, the Society brings music into the lives of about 20,000 Coachella Valley children each year. Of the 70,000 children in the Coachella Valley public schools, 80- to 85 percent are from families living at or below the poverty level. If these children don’t get music education in school, they don’t get it at all.

And why, in these days of limited—and dwindling—school budgets, is music education important? Research has shown that music education empowers children by providing a cultural and educational foundation on which to build continued improvement and early successes that are so important in a child’s life.

Consider that language competence is the basis of all the social skills needed to succeed. Many Coachella Valley students come from homes where the parents do not speak English well—or do not speak it at all. Studies have shown that music education has a positive effect in the brain, especially in language skills. Musical experience strengthens the capacity to be verbally competent.

Musical education extends beyond cultural aptitude and language skills; it actually increases a child’s IQ. One study showed that six-year-olds who were given music lessons over the school year tested on average three IQ points higher than other groups. Another study revealed that students in elementary schools with superior music education programs scored around 22 percent higher in English and 20 percent higher in math scores on standardized tests. Our schools need music and The Steinway Society of Riverside County is making that happen in the Coachella Valley.

The Steinway Society of Riverside County was the recipient of donor advised grant funding in 2013.

Field of Interest Funds

Field of Interest funds allow donors to specify a broad category for funding to support their favorite cause or issue. The Foundation makes discretionary grants in perpetuity to nonprofit organizations that serve their field of interest through a competitive grant application process. A Field of Interest fund allows donors to meet their charitable goals without the “hands-on” involvement of a Donor Advised fund.

Barbara Hanna, Chair of the Banning Centennial Committee, poses with a poster highlighting The Banning Centennial Gala, an event in 2013 that culminated a year-long celebration in Banning, the gateway to the San Gorgonio Pass.

At the end of the Centennial celebration year, all funds raised that were not required for the expenses of the Centennial were used to create the Banning Community Fund at The Community Foundation. The Fund will help local nonprofits in perpetuity.

Geographic Affiliate Funds

These funds allow individual communities to create permanent funds to support their local needs. Under the stewardship of The Community Foundation, the funds are governed by people in that community for the benefit of the area and its people.

Legacy Funds

Donors with a long-term vision can give back to their community and support their favorite causes forever with a gift in their will or trust to The Community Foundation. Donors tell us how they wish the gift to be used and we honor their wishes. Even a modest bequest will grow, under our stewardship, into a significant amount over time. The following deferred gifts will benefit Inland Southern California forever. Many of these gifts are in the form of a Charitable Gift Annuity which is an agreement whereby a donor makes a gift to the Foundation and we agree to make guaranteed fixed payments for one or two people during their lifetime(s).

The Brouse Legacy Society

The Brouse Legacy Society recognizes individuals and couples who have made provisions in their estate plans to provide a gift to The Community Foundation as a legacy for Inland Southern California. These gifts may take the form of bequests, naming The Community Foundation in a will or trust, or alternatively, in a charitable remainder trust, along with gifts of life insurance or any other type of planned gift.

Who Should Join the Brouse Legacy Society?

For people who want to create a legacy beyond their lifetime, the Brouse Legacy Society ensures donors that their charitable dollars are used to support the needs of the community in the way they intended — for perpetuity. If you have made arrangements to make a gift to the Foundation, and have informed us, then you are already a valued member of the Brouse Legacy Society.

What are the benefits of membership?

Being a member of the Brouse Legacy Society gives you the opportunity to belong to a select group of like-minded people who are committed to supporting the needs of our communities for this and future generations. You are recognized at special events and in The Community Foundation Annual Report. In addition, if you wish, you and/or your financial counsel can receive the guidance of our professional staff to help you with your gift planning, ensuring that your philanthropy will remain as a meaningful memorial to you and your family.

If you would like more information about the Brouse Legacy Society, or to inform us of a planned gift to the Foundation, please call our Philanthropic Services department at 951.241.7777.

Here For Good

“Attending college is a privilege that many Americans do not have, and I am thankful to have such an incredible learning experience.

Being in the College Honors Institute helps motivate me as I interact with other students who have individual goals and dreams. These students help encourage and lift me up as we study and discuss ideas, class projects, and essays.

This college experience would not be possible without the time and generosity of people such as you.”
